

NEW-YORKISMS.

From Our Own Correspondent. NEW YORK, Sept. 19, 1870. The Rev. George H. Hepworth, the popular Unitarian minister, appeared yesterday at his handsome church, called the Church of the Messiah, for the first time since it was closed for the summer. The church is situated on East Thirty-fourth street, at the corner of Park Avenue, and comfortably seats about eight hundred and fifty people, and is rich looking and impressive. Its organ is one of the handsomest, and its choir contains some of the best educated voices in New York. Mr. Hepworth, too, is one of the most popular and fashionable preachers. It is impossible to rent a pew there, it is difficult to obtain sittings. Ecquiste sinners and fashionable salons form a large proportion of his congregation, which, no doubt, contains some good, conscientious, hard-working Christians. Mr. Hepworth—who boards at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and no doubt enjoys life, by which I do not necessarily mean that he abuses it—has a beautiful, rich, deep voice. As a preacher he is just the man to enchant the commonplace mind. He says nothing that is strikingly original, nothing that is remarkably profound. Nay, a good deal of what he says is platitudinarian and trite; but occasionally he illustrates his meaning with a story or a simile that derives its significance not so much from its intense beauty as from its appropriateness and the picturesque quality of the metaphors with which his voice interprets it.

Madame Seebach and her German troupe arrived at this port yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the principal members of the company proceeded immediately to the Belvedere House, a new and stylish hotel at the intersection of Fifteenth street and Irving place, in the immediate proximity of the Academy of Music, Irving Hall, Steiny Hall, the Clere, Tammany, and Bryant's old hall, and devoted principally to the entertainment of actors, singers, and musicians. She makes her first appearance here next Thursday night as "Gretchen" in Faust, and attended rehearsal for the first time this morning, at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, where Ristori made her American debut.

I perceive that at the Philadelphia Academy of Music a number of actors are announced to appear, and that the advertisements are so worded as to create the impression that the actors are the same as those who recently appeared conjointly at Niblo's Garden. Such, however, is not the case. Our combination was very fine, consisting of Mr. E. L. Davenport, Mr. Lawrence Barrett, Mr. Walter Montgomery (a very excellent English tragedian), Mr. Mark Smith, Madame Ponisi, and Miss Louisa Moore. Only three of these you have with you—Davenport, Smith, and Ponisi. I have no doubt the other actors do tolerably well—only they are not the Niblo's Garden combination.

The Lincoln Statue. For a number of years a rude heap of stones has marked the spot where it was intended to erect a statue to the memory of Abraham Lincoln. That statue has at last been erected, and is the object of contemplation by every one of the thousands who during every twenty-four hours pass near the intersection of Fourteenth street and Broadway. Between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets and University Place and Fourth avenue stands Union Square, a large circular enclosure that constitutes one of the prettiest of the several small parks in the city of New York. Outside this enclosure, and in a southeastern direction from it, stands a bronze equestrian statue, representative of Washington on horseback. Washington is stationed with his back to the south and with his calm front facing the north and west, in the direction of which the city's future is stretching. What this bronze statue sorely needed was a companion statue to decorate the southwestern corner of the square space in which the park is located. It was hoped that the bronze statue of Lincoln would afford the necessary relief, and great hopes were placed upon the completion of the structure. Now that it is completed, it turns out to be a painful and ridiculous failure. The features of Old Abe are decorated with a bronze beard, which is extremely unlike any horse's apparatus that the friends of that Chief Magistrate remember to have ever seen him wear; and the expression upon the features is that of idiotic amazement at the turn things have taken, and the change that has come upon that portion of Broadway.

A "White Slave" in Court. The plucky, enterprising, and industrious young woman who figures in the newspapers as "Netta" has her hands full. Besides presiding at the weekly meetings at Plymouth Hall, attending committee meetings, answering correspondents, preparing cards for the daily newspapers, doing a stroke of business at picnics, making speeches, waiting on a sick sister, and drumming up the inactive and down-spirited, she also suffers, or, at least, has suffered until recently, at the hands of a young woman who is alleged to have endeavored to win the affections of "Netta's" husband. Since "Netta" is not a stage-name, and since the attractiveness of the cause of the Saleswomen's E. C. A. does not depend upon that prenomens' being seen through, it is no violation of confidence for me thus to imply that Miss Netta is not necessarily unmarried because she has chosen to figure before the public as a "Miss." Since she chooses to keep her married name to herself, however, so be it, I shall not reveal it. It is enough to say that, proceeding to court the other afternoon, she got the better of the misguided young woman who had been trying to make Miss Netta's home miserable, and that the misguided young woman was required to give bonds for a considerable sum to keep the peace. "Netta" seems to be a good, thorough-going, whole-hearted woman, who is working in the cause of the saleswomen with all her body as well as with all her soul.

ALI BABA. (COMMUNICATED.) William M. Bunn. As the day of election approaches, the belief that the Republican candidate for Register of Wills will be elected by a large majority is increasing, and voters who, from disappointment or other personal feeling, expressed their annoyance or regret at the nomination, have now come forward like men and expressed their determination not only to vote for Mr. Bunn, but to labor zealously for him. His endorser and supporters are vastly dissimilar from those who are backing his opponent, and if he was compelled to depend upon such men as are sent up from the purlieus of the Fourth ward for his election, he would refuse to be a candidate. It is rarely that we find a young man who is not an attorney-at-law so eminently fitted for the position of Register, and his legislative career has given him an excellent opportunity to become so intimately acquainted with men and things that the information will be invaluable to him in the future. A large Democratic vote for Mr. Bunn we are certain to receive on account of his popularity with men of both parties, and every Republican, of course, will deposit his ballot in his favor. A YORKER.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC.

The City Amusements. AT THE CHESTNUT THEATRE the combination opened to a crowded house with a light and agreeable entertainment that gave general satisfaction. Mr. William Horace Lingard appeared here about two years ago at the Eleventh Street Opera House, and made a very favorable impression. He is a mimic of excellent abilities, and in his specialty as the personator of eccentric characters—changing from one to the other with extraordinary rapidity—he is without a rival. Mr. Lingard was most cordially received last evening, and his laughable sketches were applauded in the heartiest manner. The entertainment commenced with the charming little French comedy of Delicate Ground, which introduced Miss Alice Dunning Lingard as "Pauline," Mr. George C. Boniface as "Citizen Sangfroid," and Mr. J. C. Morrison as "Alphonse." The lady carried off the honors in this piece, and established herself in the favor of the audience as a graceful and expressive actress. The performance of Mr. Boniface would have been better if it had been a little less monotonous, and Mr. Morrison would have lost nothing in the regards of the audience if he had played the lover with a trifle less heaviness. The farce of The Loss of a Lover, which concluded the performance, was pleasantly acted by Miss D. Lingard, who appeared as "Gertrude," Miss Alice Dunning Lingard as "Ernestine," Mr. Lingard as "Peter Spyke," Mr. Boniface as "Captain Amersfort," Mr. J. C. Morrison as "Swyzel," and Mr. J. Wickham as "Delve." This entertainment is light and pleasing, and it offers many attractions to those who wish to pass an agreeable evening. At the Walnut Mr. Forrest will appear this evening as "King Lear."

AT THE ARCH THEATRE the drama of Fernand will be repeated this evening. AT THE CHESTNUT THEATRE the combination will appear this evening in the Captain of the Watch; the Lingard sketches; and Who Spoke First? AT THE ELEVENTH STREET OPERA HOUSE an amusing minstrel performance will be given this evening. AT THE ARCH STREET OPERA HOUSE an attractive programme will be presented this evening. AT THE AMERICAN VARIETY ENTERTAINMENT will be given this evening. The performance which was announced to take place at the Academy of Music last evening was unavoidably postponed on account of the sudden indisposition of Mr. Mark Smith, who was announced to appear in the character of "Casca" in Julius Caesar. In this dilemma Mr. J. E. McDonough has volunteered to supply Mr. Smith's place, and in order to allow him the necessary rehearsal, no performance will be given this evening. Mr. Leonard Grover, however, informs us that Julius Caesar will positively be performed to-morrow evening, with the same cast as previously announced, with the exception of the substitution of Mr. McDonough for Mr. Smith in the part of "Casca."

THE INDIAN COUNCIL. White and Red Men—Speeches of the Savages—Address of a Philadelphian. In carrying out the new plan of allowing benevolent and religious bodies to appoint Indian agents, Secretary Cox has assigned to the Western Reservation of Minnesota, and the so-called "Lake Superior" and "Michigan" agencies, to the American Missionary Association. An officer of the latter association, Major S. N. Clark, having attended a council recently held at Crow Wing, Minn., sends to the Chicago Tribune a report of the proceedings, which will be found especially interesting to our readers, on account of the part taken by Mr. William Welsh, a well-known Philadelphian, in the proceedings. Speeches were made as follows:—

BAD BOY. "The reason for calling this council is, that we may meet our friends. I have been before big officers of the Government, and they have always listened to me. Our friends have always tried to help us, and this is why we ask you to hear our wrongs to-day. (We are not asking to talk of new things, but of old matters already promised to us. We have not been fulfilled. We think that if our friends will take hold, they can help us, and we can find what we have lost. We depend greatly on Bishop Whipple, and Mr. Welsh, and our Great Father at Washington to grease his wagon well when he sends our goods to us, that may reach us, and not break down.)

TEMPERANCE CHIEF (PILLAGER CHIEF). "We all wished to meet you, my friends. Whatever I say is the wish of the Pillager Indians. I speak for them here, and wish to receive your advice. I may tell you that the Pillagers are sorry that these treaties look so well at first, and afterwards not so well. We expect and believe that the agent of the Great Spirit is that which is authorized for us. If the promises made had been carried out faithfully, they would have made us well off to-day. You see how well we are. We think our Great Father sends us all his promises, but the messenger is blind or careless, and loses it on the way. (General expression of assent by the Indians.) Our Great Father could see what we do not receive, we believe he would feel sorry. We say nothing against him. He does all he can. Between him and us is the trouble. The Pillagers have the hardest name among the Indians; yet, had as we are, we respect our Great Father's agent. We will not let our eyes be the part of our money in his valise and carries it away. We might take it away from him, but we are not mean enough for that. And now, unless we get assistance, we have no hope for our children. We want your help that our children may live, and not be destroyed. It would be a great satisfaction to us if we could receive what you promised us to help them, and please you. We ask your help again, because we believe the ears of the Great Father are stopped up, and he does not hear our complaints. We hope before the council ends to hear from some of you, so that we can tell our young men."

MR. WILLIAM WELSH. "Mr. Rice has told you truly that I am his friend, a friend of Bishop Whipple, and especially your friend. He has said he can do little; but what he can he will, and that is much. Bishop Whipple has great power with God and man. A week ago he sent a message on a wire to me, and I have come many hundred miles to be with you and him to-day. There is great power with you. Look to and ask the Great Spirit. He has very little power; but I know the Great Spirit can give me great power if you pray for me. There are other Indians in whom I feel a deep interest. They pray for me, and I know God will help them and you too. (Showing a paper.) This paper gives me great hope. The 15th of last July Congress called on Christian men to help the Indians. They answered, and some of the best and richest men have agreed to help. They purchase very cheaply your goods this year, and mean to send you the whole. They have shut them up in boxes and marked them, so that there shall be nothing lost. They will try to have all the treaties fulfilled, so far as they seem good to the Indians. Some things they cannot do. They cannot prevent the white people from destroying the game. They therefore want to teach the Indian to draw from the earth what will feed him and his family, so that they will not starve. I know it is hard for the Indians to change their habits. It is hard for me; but I can do it, and I believe you can. Some of the best farmers in the Missouri Valley were once Indians on the war-path and in the chase. Some of the best herdsmen were wild Indians. You know how they love their horses and other pets. This change of habits is the hardest thing for the Indians; but they must make it, and work for their living. My own sons would like to have me give them some of my money, so that they might hunt and fish, and have an easy time; but, though I love them, I think it best that they should work for their living. The Great Father told me that he wanted to look out for the Indians of this country as his own children. He will help those who get farms and live on them, because he knows they will then rise to true dignity. The hunter and the Indian is the better hunter he is. I am afraid you are very poor and hungry. I think you are hungry enough to become good farmers. Your friends can help you; but, after all, you must do the most for yourself. It seems very dark to you now; but I can see the sun rising. The Great Spirit will bless you if you look to Him."

CITY ITEMS. NEW STYLES FALL CLOTHING, IN STOCK AND DAILY RECEIVED, BETTER IN MAKE, STYLE, AND FIT, AND LOWER IN PRICE THAN ANY OTHER STOCK OF READY-MADE CLOTHING IN PHILADELPHIA. BENNETT & CO., FOWER HALL, No. 518 MARKET ST. Half-way between Fifth and Sixth Streets.

MR. WILLIAM W. CARNEY, the jeweller at No. 5 South Second street, has one of the largest and most attractive stocks of all kinds of Jewelry and Silverware in the city. He has also on hand a fine assortment of fine American Western Watches. Those who purchase at this store at the present time are certain to get the worth of their money.

FAST LIVING AND ITS CONSEQUENCES.—When "fast life" has undermined the strength, destroyed the appetite, impaired the digestion, and stolen the hue of health from the cheek—when the hand trembles, the spirits droop, and the whole physical and mental organization languishes, it is possible to repair the evil and restore the dilapidated system to full health and vigor? We answer that it is. Hundreds of cases have been cited, thousands might be cited, in which this regeneration has been accomplished by the regular and persistent use of PLANTATION BITTERS. Abstinence from the indulgences which have wrought the mischief is, of course, one of the means of restoration. But it is not sufficient alone. The consequences remain after the cause has been abandoned. A wholesome and genial tonic is absolutely necessary to rouse the corporeal and mental energies from their state of collapse. This good work it is the mission of the Plantation Bitters to perform. But no other stimulant must be taken.

WE SHOULD judge from the tone of our exchanges that the whole country is becoming excited over the great Ball set in motion by Rockhill & Wilson this Fall. They all speak in the most enthusiastic manner of their tremendous and beautiful Fall and Winter stock, and especially their all-Wool $15 fall and winter suits. We cheerfully endorse the above, and recommend all in want of beautiful and cheap clothing to give them a call at Nos. 603 and 605 Chesnut street, Philadelphia.

P. S.—Those who cannot make it convenient to visit the city can have samples sent, with full description for measuring, and notes forwarded at the shortest notice. A perfect fit guaranteed.

ROCKHILL & WILSON, Great Brown Stone Clothing Hall, Nos. 603 and 605 Chesnut street, Philadelphia.

LET EVERY ONE in search of a handsomely located residence, at a low rent, visit St. ALBAN'S place, north of CATHARINE street, between TWENTY-THIRD and TWENTY-FOURTH. The handsome park, which extends the whole length of the square and fronts these residences, is something novel. The dwellings are finished with Mansard roofs and every modern improvement. Mr. LESLIE, No. 717 Sanson street, and Mr. JAMES, No. 501 GRAY'S FERRY road, are renting the properties.

DEPEND UPON IT, MOTHERS, Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP, for all diseases of children, is a safe and sure medicine. It has stood the test of thirty years, and never known to fail. It regulates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and cures wind colic; produces natural, quiet sleep, by relieving the child from pain.

A WORD TO THE ELDERLY.—Nobody loves to be grey. That's human nature. Everybody detests the hair dyes, and the sedimental "not-a-dyes." That's human nature too. PHALON'S VITALIA, OR SALVATION FOR THE HAIR, which literally rejuvenates grey hair, is free from the fish and sediment which defile the dyes and "not-a-dyes."

Sold by all druggists and fancy goods dealers. THE OLD DOMINION SAUCE is made in wooden tanks, and is free from all metallic substances. It is a most wholesome condiment, and for steaks, chops, oysters, game, soups, etc., it has no equal.

DIED. ECKERT.—On Friday afternoon, September 16, 1870, HENRY TREVOR ECKERT, son of the late Dr. George N. Eckert, in the 29th year of his age.

His relatives and friends are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, from the residence of his mother, No. 1031 Spruce street, on Tuesday afternoon, 20th instant, at 3 o'clock. Interment at Laurel Hill.

HOCKLEY.—On Monday, September 19th, at his residence, Chestnut Grove, Media, J. HERMAN HOCKLEY, in the 44th year of his age.

The relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, from his late residence, on Thursday next, at 12 o'clock. Carriages will be in waiting at the depot, at Thirty-first and Chesnut streets, at 9 o'clock.

The relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, from the residence of her son, Durbin Road, No. 763 South Ninth street, on Thursday afternoon, the 21st instant, at 2 o'clock. To proceed to Wharton Street Church Cemetery.

WEAVER.—On the 18th instant, WILLIAM H., eldest son of William H. and Anna M. Weaver, in the 23rd year of his age.

The relatives and friends of the family are respectfully invited to attend the funeral, from the residence of his parents, No. 3219 Vine street, on Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

WILSACH.—At Saratoga, New York, September 17th, WILLIAM P. WILSACH, Esq., aged 64 years.

Funeral to take place on Wednesday afternoon, September 21st, at 2 o'clock, from the residence of D. P. Busier, No. 1260 Arch street.

DRY GOODS. OPENING. J. M. HAFLEIGH, CHESNUT STREET, ABOVE TENTH, WILL OPEN

PARIS WALKING SUITS, LADIES' COATS, JACKETS, Etc., MONDAY, September 19, 1870.

WAR'S DOINGS. Important to Dry Goods Buyers.

Owing to the unfortunate state of affairs on the Continent of Europe, there is a moral certainty that all the EUROPEAN goods will be raised in price; in fact, already importers of SILKS are asking a large percentage over last season's prices, and goods are scarce at that. We have quite a good stock on hand.

Silks, Shawls, and Dress Goods, Which we propose FOR THE PRESENT to sell at old prices, not putting on one cent advance. Also, FRENCH AND LLAMA LACES, Which it will pay well to buy now at old prices, even to keep for next summer. Also, BLACK CRAPES AND CRAPE VEILS, and BLACK ALPACA MOHAIRS, and DELAINES, and KID GLOVES, COZSETS, and LINEN GOODS.

We would advise our friends to lay in their stock of the above goods for family use. JOSEPH H. THORNLEY, NORTHEAST CORNER OF EIGHTH and SPRING GARDEN STS., PHILADELPHIA. Established in 1853.

REFRIGERATORS. BISMARCK DRINKS PURE WATER. Our Fritz Drinks Filtered Water. Louis Napoleon Will Not Poison Himself with Muddy Water. All American citizens should preserve their health by drinking nothing but the purest water that has passed through SCHARFF & WOOD'S Patent Filter and Cooler.

Why! suffer with the Gravel caused by mud? Why! suffer with Griping Pains caused by drinking Ice water, when by having your water filtered and cooled as nature filters and cools the pure Spring water, you may avoid these ills! The Schuykill water is rendered impure by the numerous factories, coal of refineries, storks, slaughter houses, dye works, etc., etc., which cluster on its banks. By forcing this impure water through SCHARFF & WOOD'S PATENT FILTER AND COOLER It is rendered as pure as the waters that run from the mountain hills.

The expense is nothing in comparison to the benefit derived from its use. In one season it will pay for itself in the saving of ice; it never gets out of order, and will last a lifetime. For further particulars send for a circular. JOHN WOOD, JR., Proprietor.
